

The Naughty Spider

by

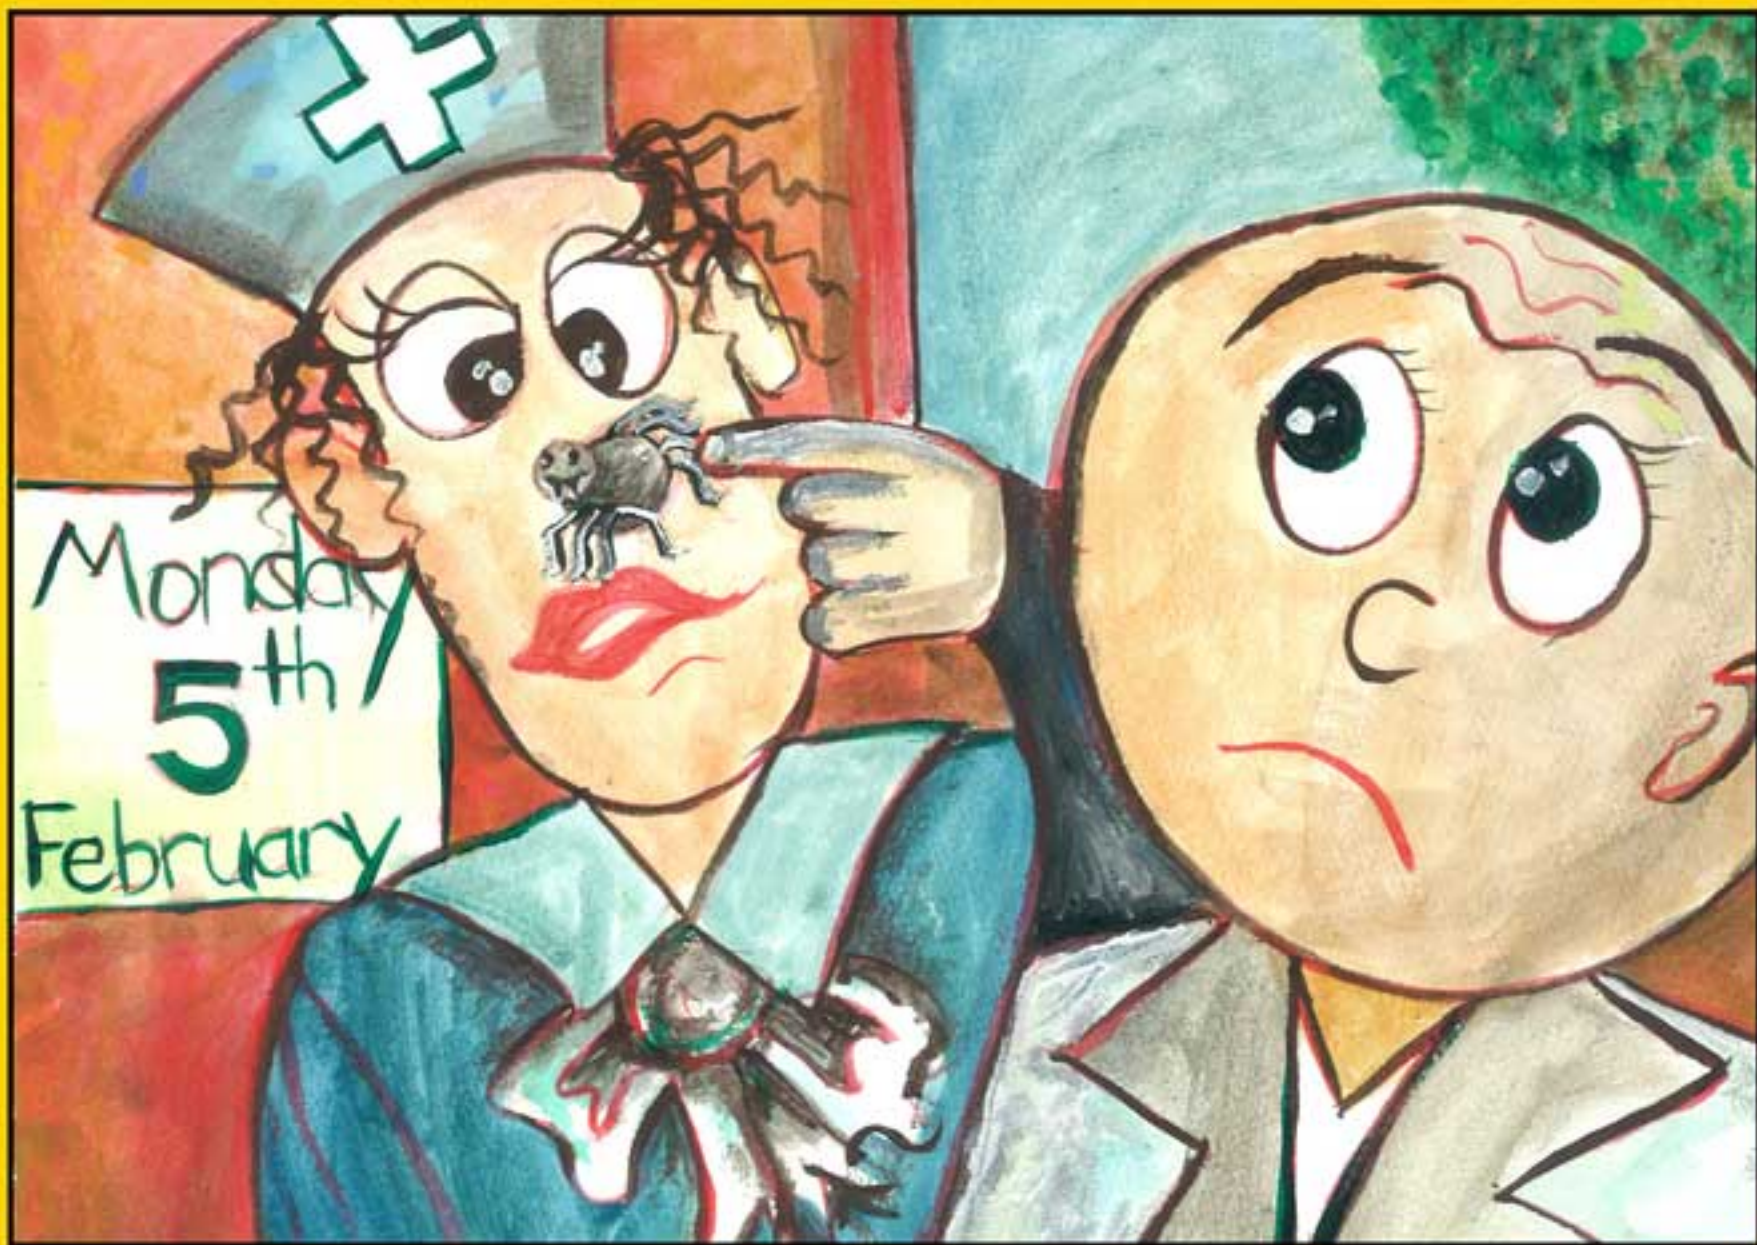

Cherie Sexsmith

The Naughty Spider

Once upon a time, there was a spider.
The spider lived in a tall tree near a hospital. The spider was naughty and it liked to bite people!

On Monday, the spider saw a nurse on her way to the hospital. It jumped down from the tree and bit the nurse on the nose! The nurse went to see the doctor. The doctor took the spider from her nose and threw it out the window. The spider landed right back in her tree.

On Tuesday, the spider saw a taxi driver sitting in his car under the tree. The spider jumped down from the tree and bit the taxi driver on the ear. The taxi driver went to see the doctor.

The doctor took the spider from his ear and threw it out the window. The spider landed right back in her tree.

On Wednesday, the spider saw a police officer walking down the street. She jumped down and bit the police officer on the cheek. The police officer went to see the doctor. The doctor took the spider from his cheek and threw it out the window. The spider landed right back in her tree.

On Thursday, the spider saw a farmer selling fruit under a tree. The spider jumped down and bit the farmer on the chin. The farmer went to see the doctor. The doctor took the spider from his chin and threw it out the window. The spider happily landed right back in her tree.

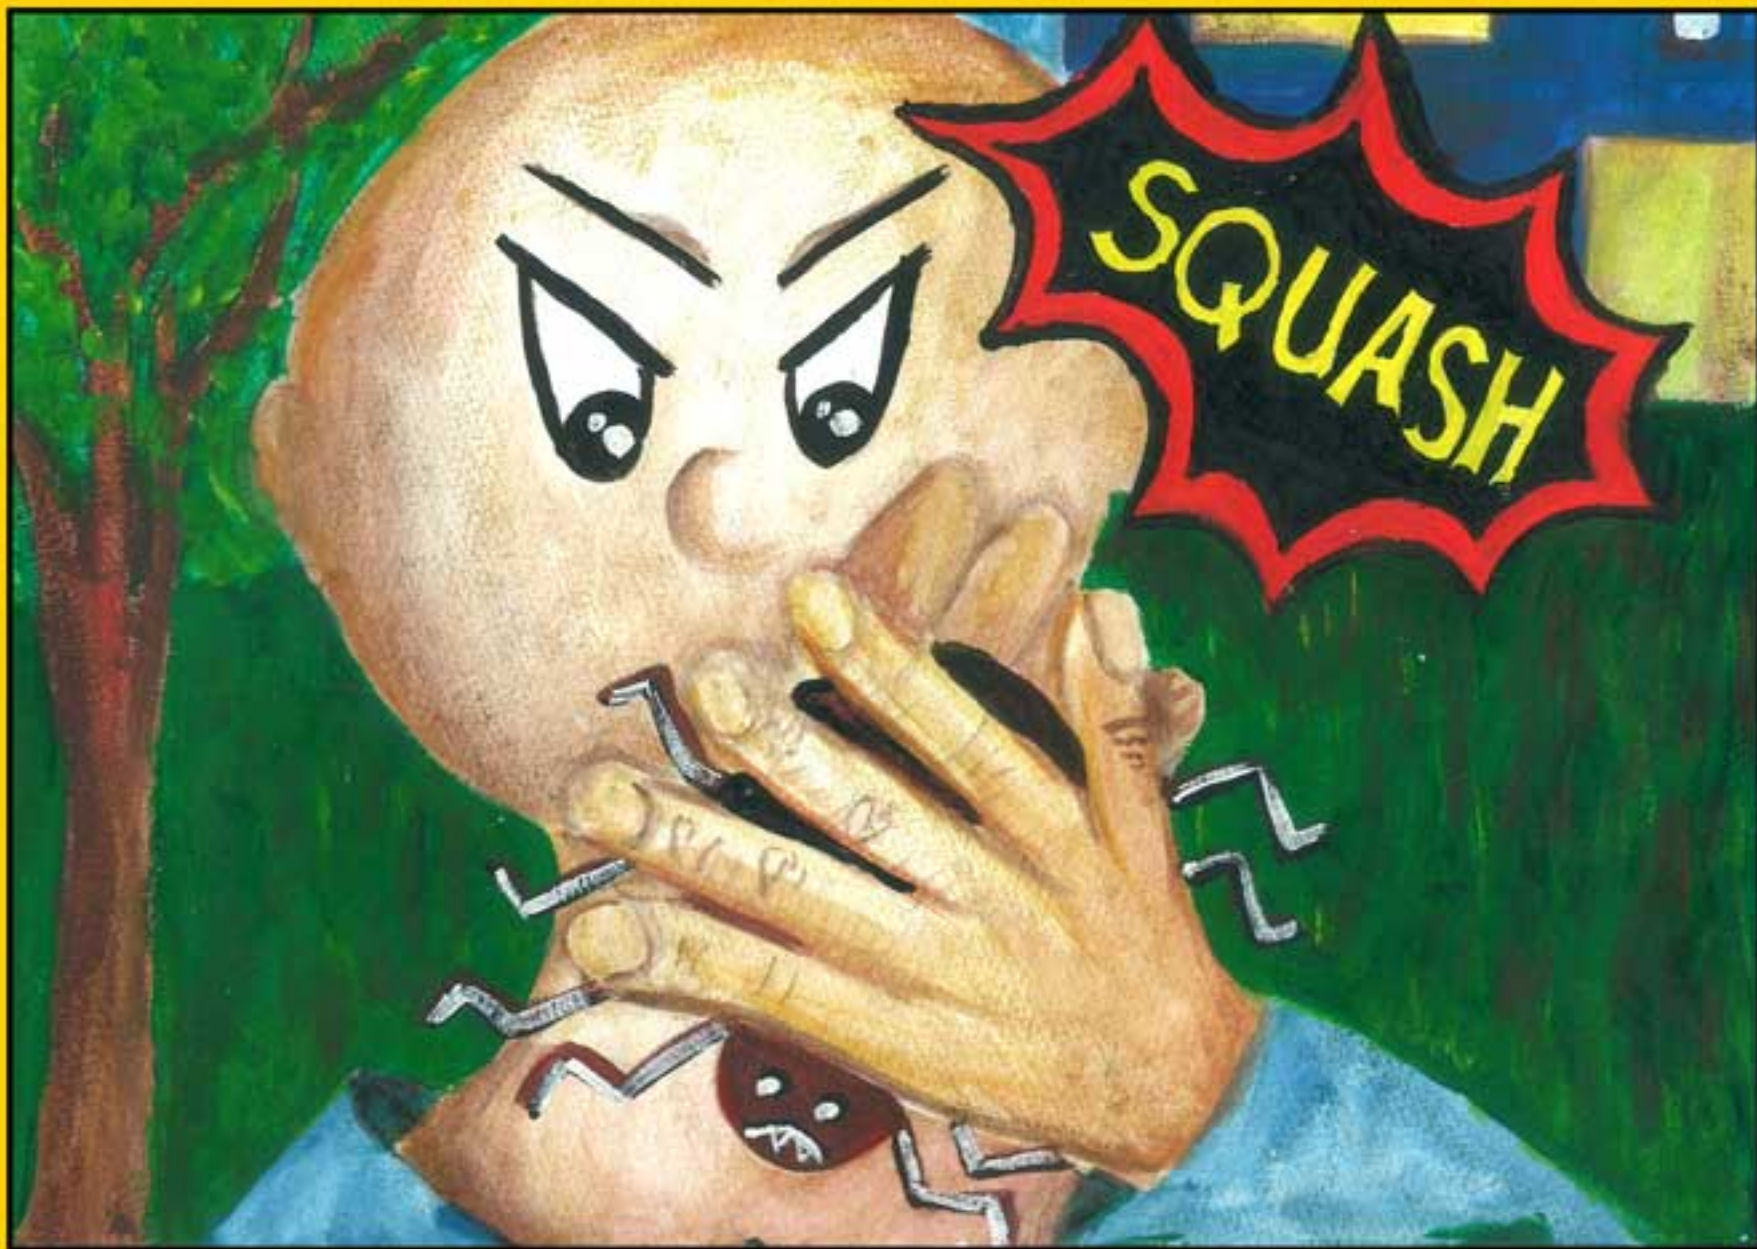

On Friday, the spider saw a firefighter putting out a fire. She quickly jumped down and landed on the firefighter's lip. The firefighter went to see the doctor. The doctor took the spider from his lip and threw it out the window. The spider landed right back in her tree again.

On Saturday, the spider saw a teacher eating an apple under the tree. The spider jumped down and landed on the teacher's neck. The teacher went to see the doctor. The doctor took the spider from his neck and threw it out the window. The spider landed in her tree for the last time.

On Sunday, the doctor was very tired. He had been busy this week taking care of so many people with spider bites. He fell asleep under the tree. The spider jumped down and bit the doctor on the finger.

The doctor was very angry, so he clapped his big hands together and squashed that spider. That was the end of the naughty spider.

The End